

Dr. Cameron Jackson, KM

Dr. Cameron Jackson is a Knight of Magistral Grace in the Order of Malta, a 900 year old Catholic lay religious order, where he serves as the co-chair of the spirituality committee in the Charlotte, NC region. He is a retreat master, an executive leadership coach, advanced behavior analyst, master business practitioner, and author with 20+ years of experience. He is passionate about authentic relationships and has a genuine desire to help others grow both professionally and in their faith journeys. He helps both seasoned and emerging leaders, and their teams with personal and professional growth through values-based coaching, training, and the practical application of proven leadership methods and business practices which are sanctified for the glory of God.

In addition to successfully launching and scaling up several businesses he has organized and led an international mission trip for university students to Catholic service projects such as Missionaries of the Poor in Kingston Jamaica. As a leadership and management consultant he has led management studies on the logistical operations of Air Force One at Andrews Air Force Base in Washington DC, communications and IT organizations in Germany, and organizational development projects for law enforcement and aerospace operations across the country.

Cameron has a doctorate degree in executive leadership as well as a master's degree in public administration and leadership and a master's degree in international relations. He has served as a full-time professor of leadership and management and as a professor of business at both state and private universities. Cameron's doctoral dissertation work focused on executive leadership in higher education and the impact of faith-based service projects on undergraduate student success. In 2022, Cameron and his wife, Natalie, founded The Eremos Group, a Catholic owned company with a professional ministry component.

Natalie Jackson, MA, DM

Natalie Jackson is a Dame of Magistral Grace in the Order of Malta, a 900 year old lay religious order of the Catholic Church. She holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Sociology from Wright State University in Dayton Ohio as well as a Master of Arts Degree in Community Counseling from Saint Mary's University in San Antonio Texas. Natalie is a graduate of the Spiritual Direction Certificate Program at Divine Mercy University, a premier institution of higher learning respected for its Catholic-Christian Meta Model approach to training Catholic psychiatrists, psychologists, counselors and spiritual directors. She is professionally trained in the Contemplative-Evocative Model of spiritual direction and is helping to form future spiritual directors as a residency adjunct at Divine Mercy University, located in Sterling Virginia. During her 23-year career, Natalie has worked for federal and local government as well as the non-profit sector. She was called to work in professional ministry in 2017 and spent three years as a director and pastoral associate, at Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church, playing a key leadership role in the establishment of multiple ministries, administrative infrastructure, and the providence of pastoral support. During this period, Natalie was also invited to participate in the Expanded Reason Congress sponsored by the Joseph Ratzinger-Benedict XVI Foundation and University of Francisco di Vitoria, in Rome, as the result of her scholarly writing submission on faith and reason. In 2023, Natalie was appointed to the Spirituality Committee of the Order of Malta Federal Association, in Washington DC, where she assists with determining the focus of spirituality for Knights and Dames throughout the United States. At the local level, Natalie has served as Co-Chair of the Order of Malta Charlotte Region Spirituality Committee which contributes to the spiritual development of approximately 65 Knights and Dames in the area. In August of 2022, Natalie and her husband founded The Eremos Group, a Catholic leadership training, coaching, behavioral analysis, spiritual direction, executive faith advising and retreat provider. Natalie is a professional spiritual director, retreat master, and executive faith advisor who seeks to do everything for the glory of God.
